Digital Asset Manager & Social Media Manager — MARU

Chinwendu Marvellous Ajaegbu-Caleb

Also known as Caleb Marvel

Hi,

Here is what I would achieve for MARU across the paid trial and beyond:

1. A clean, repeatable Air asset system -- your "All Assets" board sorted into the four existing boards using a logic built to hold up as new shoots and product photography come in, not a one-time cleanup that drifts back into chaos.
2. A 12-post Instagram grid that actually reads as MARU -- tropical, minimal-ingredient, ritual-led -- built in Canva from your existing assets so the feed feels curated the moment someone lands on the profile.
3. Beyond the trial: a content and photo-management rhythm that turns MARU's Instagram from a posting habit into a channel that builds the brand's premium-natural positioning deliberately, asset by asset.

Proof this is real, not aspirational: I have managed content and social presence for cosmetics brands (Luscents, McDobi GLOBAL, Hopmichar) since 2022 -- the same category MARU sits in. Separately, I took a client's Instagram and Facebook from 0 to 10,000+ followers in 7 days, then monetized that audience to $5,000+ in revenue within 30 days -- proof that the content system I build is built to convert, not just to look good.

On the DAM tool question: Air itself is new to me, but I am familiar with DAM-style asset organization more broadly -- structuring content libraries in Canva and Drive/Dropbox for client content calendars, which is the same underlying skill of turning a messy asset pile into a system people can actually find things in. I would treat the first board pass as the proof point that this transfers, not a formality.

Available for the under-30-hours/week scope as posted. Ready to start the trial immediately.

Best,
Chinwendu Marvellous Ajaegbu-Caleb
